

Pope Francis nailed it: World War III has begun.

A “piecemeal” Third World War, he called it. Unreliable rebels armed to the teeth. “Plotters of terrorism” sowing death and destruction.

Every day we’re bombarded with sickening reports of terrible unrest all over the world...

ISIS is quickly becoming the richest terrorist group in the world today by robbing banks, extortion, kidnapping journalists, beheading children on camera, and crucifying innocent civilians...

It’s Evil . . . It’s INSANE!

And you have two choices: Victim or Victor . . .

Dear Investor,

If Europe wasn’t so weak and focused on attacking the wealth of its citizens, do you think Putin would be as aggressively seeking to retake control of the USSR?

If Washington wasn't bankrupt and spending all its energy stealing your money, do you think Beijing would be so successful promoting the yuan on the international stage

ISIS, Boko Haram, and other terrorist groups are now more active and more powerful than ever.

All of this adds up to a frightful new world we’re living in . . .

And yet, what’s lurking under the surface is even scarier than all of that.

When the Pope called this World War III, he missed a big piece of the puzzle—the hidden force behind the rising violence around the globe.

It's not just the terrorists who are to blame. The governments of the biggest nations in the world are destroying world order and peace while they wage a war on your wealth.

And YES, that includes Washington.

You may have heard that story before, but the new details you're going to hear today will shock you. Not just because of how badly your trust is being betrayed But also because of how much money you stand to make simply by making a few defensive moves with your nest egg today.

I'm Larry Edelson, Editor of Real Wealth Report.

Something's going to break this bull market's back. And it's going to be something we never saw coming. Another "Lehman Moment."

When that happens, the exit doors won't be wide enough. Most investors are going to get crushed. (Don't say I didn't warn you.)

Not you, though.

I'm going to tell you about an investment that you won't believe is safe if you look at what's happened to it in the last couple years.

Even while the stock market has kept going up, this investment has gone down. Significantly.

Because when investors get complacent — with not a care in the world — they don't much like this investment.

That's what's gone on now.

It happened before. Right before the last big market crash, this investment fell more than 30% across the board.

But when investors panicked, it reaped windfall gains.

The laziest investors better than doubled their money in under three years.

My readers who were with me when this was all happening had the opportunity to make XXX%, XXX%, and even X,XXX%. The fastest of these gains were pocketed — start-to-finish — in just XX days.

All from listening to me the last time I told them it was time to load up on this crisis insurance investment.

Russia's saber rattling? China turning Washington into its economic whipping boy? ISIS set to behead Americans in the streets?

That's a crisis in the making. That's why it's time to grab this insurance investment with both fists.

By now you might have guessed, I'm talking about precious metals.

Since the beginning of this year, gold and silver have continued to languish.

All while my readers have already pocketed gains of 288%% and 415%.

Not all precious metal “insurance plays” are created equal.

I know from experience a rising tide will lift all ships (just look from fall 2008 to summer 2011).

And yet, as my readers have already seen this year, some of these stocks are going to take off even before the crisis hits . . . and some are going to go absolutely stratospheric when the rest of the market gets any strength.

You can feel it in your bones, I’m sure.

SOMETHING is going to happen soon that sets off the global powder keg.

There’s no time to wait when it comes to insuring yourself against that.

The only question is which plays to make. And the answer to that question comes from another

How rich do you want to be two years from now?

I firmly believe that what you do now — RIGHT now — will go a long way toward determining how rich you’ll be, how well you’ll live, and how secure your finances will be FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE.

We’re on the verge of a three-year bull market in gold. Once that happens, there’s no telling how high gold will soar.

After gold bottomed out in 2008 it surged up to $1,900 an ounce.

Some of the stocks I recommended went up as much as 301.5%, 554.8%, and in one case 2,957.9%.

Now, gold prices aren’t quite as low as they were in ’08. Last time I checked gold was at $1,222.90. If someone made a $10,000 investment today and gained 2,957%, they would walk away with $295,790.

But even if we only gained 301.5%, a ten thousand dollar investment would still turn into $30,150.

But that’s nothing. Because we know that when gold starts taking off, the tiny segment of the precious metals market I specialize in is going to be chock-full of triples, quadruples, and even ten-baggers.

Now is the time to take steps in order to profit in the next three years.

There is nothing better than getting your timing right when it comes to the gold market; I hope you're ready to act when I tell you to!

For our first major purchases, I'm eyeing three stocks that, in gold's first phase up, posted gains of 1,577% ... 3,742% ... 11,186%, respectively. That's enough to turn a modest $10,000 investment into $167,700 ... $384,200 ... or even $1.1 MILLION.

Now, it is highly unusual for a stock to have gains of 11,186%. But my readers have enjoyed collecting their share of that run.

Gold is poised to take off again.

I want to send you my special report that will help you take advantage of the staggering profits called Precious Metals 'Insurance' Plays Set To Deliver Up To 11,000% Gains (Again) When Global Crisis Strikes.

As world conflict boils over, investors will seek hard tangible assets . . .

They'll also want as much supply as possible.

Things look bad, and they're only going to get worse. As this escalates and things start to fall apart all over the world, capital will flow in the direction of safety. The safest place to invest during any war is in commodities.

I'm exaggerating—well, not completely.

The world's favorite form of currency for more than two thousand years is about to be in high demand again.

"Real Wealth Report has been a turnaround in my portfolio performance. Larry has an amazing insight into what is happening in the world and why. I would not miss his advice."

We are finally emerging from a bear market that forced many producers and miners to shut down; right now there is less supply.

The big commodity firms that remain won't be able to pick up the slack or increase production enough, which will lead to rising prices—IF you invest in the right stocks.

- Maurice K., Winnipeg, Canada

But first, I want to clear the air about buying gold

Listen, I know gold stocks are out of favor right now. I'm not going to gild the lily here. As a whole, the gold market has been beaten to a pulp the last few years, as the Fed has most of the market convinced this rally has nowhere to go but up. (An assumption that is always wrong.)

And even though we've been quietly pocketing these double- and triple-digit gains this year, most investors are still blissfully ignorant about the conditions setting up in the gold market.

That's great news for us—for you—because gold stocks are such a good value, it's like buying blue-chips in April 2009, when S&P had just gotten a hellish beating all the way down to 666.

You won't get rich today hoping a 5-year bull market will go up a little bit more (and not crash before you can pull out). You're going to get rich by buying when blood runs in the street, which is what usually happens in the gold market right before a big economic, political, or market event sends most stocks plummeting.

I realize that not everyone is eager to buy gold. The gold market has been tanking for years and even die-hard enthusiasts are wary.

I'm not in the business of selling you gold; I'm only interested in one thing—making sure that you make a fortune whether gold goes up, down, or continues to languish.

Even though thousands of investors lost money in the recent bear market, my readers have told me how much they have profited from following my advice, and I invite you to do the same.

When I founded the Real Wealth Report newsletter, I had only one objective: to help you protect yourself and profit from the falling dollar by harnessing the money making power of natural resource stocks.

I've helped my readers protect and build their wealth through Wall Street's biggest financial crises.

Today, the madness of bankrupt governments and rising geo-political conflict will ultimately drive gold to $5,000 an ounce and beyond.

"In retrospect, I found your insights to be amazingly accurate! This sadly leaves me wishing I had HEEDED your advice (which I didn't do, to the detriment of my portfolio). You are now my primary guiding light!"

–G.S., Ridley Park, PA

Where will your money be when the US dollar crashes and burns?

Powerful forces are changing the landscape of the world economy. The Yuan are quickly gaining momentum as major reserve currencies and I'm certain that the U.S. Dollar will lose its reserve status by 2016.

The U.S. is stretched too thin by all the wars it's been involved with and buried under a mountain of unpayable debt—mainly to China.

Russia and China have negotiated trade agreements around the world using rubles and Yuan instead of dollars. Both countries want to get away from being forced to trade in dollars—they're tired of the U.S. government's heavy-handedness in economic and military affairs.

Those two countries' actions are why the U.S. dollar will no longer be the world's reserve currency... and why gold will rebound with a vengeance.

Three decades of amazingly accurate forecasts under my belt

I've traveled the world, studied what happens in the markets, and personally visited the mines that I invest in. This gives me a unique vantage point that has allowed me to make several predictions that have made my readers increase their profits and stay safe when stocks lost value.

For example, I urged my readers to buy gold in 2000, at a mere $260 per ounce, before it exploded more than 584% to $1,811.

I don't just tell people to buy at the bottom though; I get nervous at the top, too. Which is why I encourage my readers to get out or insure against downfalls. Like in September 2011, I warned my readers that gold prices were about to plunge. I urged them to SELL their gold bullion—or, at the very least, to hedge their positions with an inverse ETF.

If they heeded that recommendation, they insulated their money from the price decline that followed.

I've successfully called nearly all the major turning points in the world's macroeconomic trends, including:

- ✓ the 21-year bear market in precious metals between 1980 and 2000.
- ✓ the stock market crash of 1987 and its subsequent rally to new highs by 1990.

- ✓ the peak of the stock market bubble in 2000.
- ✓ the new bull market in natural resources that began in 2001.
- ✓ major turning points in the currency markets, like the now multi-year-long decline in the dollar.
- ✓ the start of the major bull markets in Asian economies and stocks in 2004.
- ✓ the major bottom in stocks in March 2009, starting on March 16.

I began my career on Wall Street 35 years ago. By 1980, I founded my own successful international brokerage, financial analysis, and money management firm with offices in New York, Hamburg, Dusseldorf, Vienna, and Osaka.

Over the course of my career I've been responsible for as much as $1.6 billion in daily gold trading in today's dollars. I've managed several multimillion-dollar natural resource and commodity based private investment funds.

People throughout the financial industry agree on the accuracy of my analysis, forecasts and investment recommendations. I'm frequently featured in Forbes Magazine and on Bloomberg, CBS MarketWatch, CNBC, and other major financial media around the globe.

I never tire of studying economic and investment cycles, and I serve as Executive Director of the prestigious Foundation for the Study of Cycles.

I'm uniquely qualified to protect your wealth from the falling dollar and help you PROFIT from soaring resource stocks.

With that, I want to give you a warning

Not all gold investments are equal—or even safe.

I just said that the price of gold bullion, gold stocks and other natural resources will be skyrocketing in the very near future, and you should buy now. But following this advice without understanding the current market conditions could prove devastating to your portfolio.

Very few people have the ability to understand what's happening in the world market today. The fact of the matter is, throwing money at the wrong mining company is one of the fastest ways to decimate your nest egg.

Most people won't understand what's happening in the market until it's too late. I issued my now-famous "sell" signal just days after gold hit $1,920 an ounce and most mining companies also hit their record highs. In the months that followed, the average mining company lost 63% of its value, wiping out $243 billion of shareholder wealth.

The carnage among smaller mining stocks was even worse:

- The average small mining company lost 78% of its value.
- Some juniors, like Allied Nevada Gold Corp., lost as much as 87% of their value.
- And dozens more, like Patagonia Gold, Mariana Resources, and Gryphon Gold Corp, were delisted, are in danger of outright bankruptcy, and will likely cause a 100% wipe-out for investors!

I know when gold and silver skyrocket again we're going to see a bunch of undeserving companies rise with it.

In the dotcom market, anybody with .com in their company name could sell shares for a while, but investors who took the bait got creamed.

That's why I only recommend companies worth investing in whether gold takes off or not, explorers that will keep striking gold (and silver, and other metals), miners that will keep digging up profits like crazy (pun intended), and others in the industry that all stand to generate outsized investment returns when gold takes off.

If you think you can just jump in willy-nilly to buy beaten down mining shares to make a bundle of money, PLEASE, think again!

Avoid the biggest rip-offs when buying gold stock

Even now as investors are starting to pay attention to gold stocks again, they're setting themselves up for another disaster.

There are a handful of mining companies that could go bankrupt—even as the price of gold doubles. And if that happens to a company in your portfolio, the shame and agony will make your head spin.

Too many investors will be left asking, "How could I have picked that company???" while the rest of the market shoots up.

I have a report that will protect you from getting bamboozled called, 10 Mining Companies I Wouldn't Touch with a Ten Foot Pole.

I'll tell you how to get this free report in a minute. When you get the report, double check your portfolio right away. If you own any shares or warrants in any of them, DUMP them and don't look back.

I can't stress that enough.

They're too heavily indebted. Or their total cost of production is too high.

Or they're starting to rehedg e their gold and silver reserves and resources.

Or they're suffering from a mix of all three.

If you avoid these traps, you'll be ready to take advantage of the next leg of this massive gold market. This surge in gold prices will carry forward into 2016—another three years.

"The flow of analysis is way at the top compared to other leading international advisory services!"

– Rolf H. Malcolm II

When I tell you about all the problems in the gold mining industry, you may be wondering why I still advise my readers to buy gold. But the reason is the big payoff for investors.

With this massive decline in gold shares, we are now at or close to one of the greatest buying opportunities in this cycle—perhaps in this century.

You can do that with a nicely diversified portfolio of cream-of-the-crop miners.

Build a core portfolio that will serve as a financial safety net

Your core portfolio should be made up of what I call tried-and-true performers.

This small, select group of companies includes both rock solid junior miners with low production costs, good properties, and good management, plus some key senior miners that have successfully avoided the traps most others are now caught in and that will do well in the months and years ahead.

This core, diversified portfolio includes companies like:

Barrick Gold, ABX AngloGold Ashanti, AU Newcrest Mining, NCMGF Endeavor Silver on the TSE, EDR Great Panther Silver, GPL Paramount Gold, PZG Rubicon Minerals, RBY Richmond Mines, RIC Nevsun Resources, NSU Fortuna Silver, and FSM.

Plus, several companies that I want to introduce you to:

Junior Miner #1, a company with nearly 19 million ounces of proven gold and nearly 40 million ounces of resources. At a gold price of $1,250, that's an asset base of $32.9 billion. What's more, buying shares in this company gives you great leverage on the price of gold. It's almost like buying gold at just $175 an ounce—an 86% discount on today's gold price.

My three-year target: A 393% gain.

Junior Miner #2, another gem with a whopping 89 million ounces of gold worth $111.3 billion, giving you even greater leverage. Why? Because buying its shares gives you an interest in its gold reserves at a mere $78 an ounce—a whopping 94% discount on today's gold price.

My three-year price target: A 294% gain.

The second category of mining shares to buy is what I call “high-octane performers.” They are more speculative but still have solid business models.

I'm talking about a select portfolio of junior mining companies with high betas, which means their share prices move up at a far faster pace than their peers.

High-octane performer #1 produces silver at roughly $11 an ounce—about 55% of what you'd have to pay to buy silver bullion today—even after factoring in all costs.

High-octane performer #2 is sitting on as much as 19 million ounces of gold at a total ownership and production cost of just $262 an ounce—like buying gold at a 79% discount.

High-octane performer #3, with as much as 53 million ounces of gold, is especially appealing because it doesn't have to worry about the increasing costs of mining—or anything else for that matter. Its primary business model is simply to sit back, let others do the hard work, and collect a stream of overriding royalties.

As you might expect, once you've selected the right ones, timing is critical with these shares.

And right now, my timing indicators—the very same indicators that enabled me to call the bottom in gold at $260 back in 2000 and every major move since—are now virtually screaming that we're about to get a major new “buy” signal in each of these markets even before we get a major new buy signal in bullion.

Will we be able to catch the exact top and exact bottom of massive moves like these? No. But even if we don't we could still be looking at some huge profits.

By now you may be asking who these companies are. I want to tell you, but the problem is you are NOT yet a member of my Real Wealth Report, and that means you are NOT on the list to receive these all-important recommendations.

We can remedy that. In a moment, I'll tell you how.

I don't mean to brag, but the fact is . . .

I've accurately called every major turn in the market since 2000, and don't want you to miss out on this big surge

The exact same forecasting tools that allowed me to be one of the first—if not THE first—to predict the great 11- year-long bull market in gold back in 2000 . . .

That empowered me to accurately call virtually every major turn in the market since . . .

That gave me the ability to warn you that a substantial pullback was about to drive gold prices lower beginning in September 2011 . . .

Are now virtually screaming that we are very close to a rock bottom in the gold market and from a powerful new explosion that will likely take gold prices into the stratosphere over the next few years.

What could this mean for YOU?

Well, if you followed my short term “buy” and “sell” signals on gold ETFs since 2000, you could have grabbed big gains in short amounts of time: A 27% gain in 20 days . . . a 41% gain in 17days . . . a 55% gain in 16 days . . . and a 94% gain in just 20 days.

Plus, had you heeded my major “buy” and “sell” signals on the yellow metal since 2000, you could have grabbed profits like ...

- a 150% gain in AuRico Gold,
- a 288% gain in Harmony Gold,
- a 301% gain in AngloGold Ashanti,
- a 415% gain in Newmont Mining,
- a 554% gain in Gold Fields Ltd., and
- a 750% gain in IAMGOLD Corp.—enough to turn every $1,000 invested into more than $85,000!

And believe it or not, these are not even close to the biggest gainers you could have jumped on:

- Agnico Eagle Mines jumped 850.2%
- Kinross Gold Corp. jumped 877.8%
- Newcrest Mining jumped 1,059.4%
- Goldcorp jumped 1,248%
- Royal Gold jumped 2,957.9%

That gain on Royal Gold alone would have been enough to turn a $40,000 investment into more than $1.2 million!

Unfortunately, you can't travel back in time to grab these entire moves, and neither can I.

The time is right, and we are about to get a second chance.

Don't forget that this is a THREE-YEAR opportunity. The same technical signals that told me this bull market was beginning in 2000, are telling me that this next huge rally in gold will take three full years to unfold. You're going to have the chance to multiply your money over and over again until 2016!

This explosive, three-year bull market we're about to see in precious metals happens only once or twice in a lifetime

Things will be changing fast. We will need to jump in when prices are surging and move to the sidelines during the inevitable short-term pullbacks.

I constantly scour the globe for the best investment ideas, and I will continue to travel overseas to personally investigate what's happening . . . where . . . why . . . and how.

No matter how tumultuous things get, you can count on me to visit—first hand, at my own expense—many of the companies and opportunities that I will be bringing you.

Snap up profits in silver and palladium, too!

Gold never rises in a vacuum. More often than not, it pulls other important metals up along with it! I will investigate those stocks just as carefully.

I insist on investing only in real companies with real assets that produce real profits and that deal with real, tangible value—things that customers, corporations, and entire nations must have to survive.

Wars are won with economics as well as with force. Protecting your wealth is, in that sense, a patriotic endeavor.

As precious metals and mining sink to their final lows, your ultimate opportunity is right NOW

While I can't tell you the exact day that the new gold and precious metals rally will take place, I can tell you this: The action you take today will determine your future.

That's why I am urging you to become a member of my Real Wealth Report service.

Every monthly issue is packed with incisive economic analysis and guidance, and specific and practical recommendations designed to protect your wealth, grow your nest egg, and increase your income so you can live well no matter which way the markets turn.

If you don't want to miss out on the biggest gains in this next rally, the time to act is NOW. Not tomorrow, not next week, not next month. TODAY.

Free Report No. 1: The Great Gold Bonanza of 2013-2016

Please don't buy a penny's worth of gold until you read this report.

All too often, investors jump into gold thinking that they can't get ripped off. There are a lot of unscrupulous gold dealers you'll need to avoid.

In this exclusive guide, I will show you not only where insiders place their bets, but also:

- ▶ How to avoid the biggest rip-offs when buying gold bullion coins,
- ▶ The best way to buy gold in absolute privacy, and
- ▶ My confidential "short list" of reputable gold dealers.

Free Report No. 2: Precious Metals 'Insurance' Plays Set To Deliver Up To 11,000% Gains (Again) When Global Crisis Strikes.

If you fear you've waited too long to buy gold stocks and missed one of the most profitable bull markets ever, think again!

As you read this report, you'll discover:

- ✓ How virtually all the factors that have depressed gold prices—central bank selling, speculative selling (the "carry trade"), forward-selling by mines, and soaring supplies—are now history.
- ✓ I give you all the reasons why I believe skyrocketing gold prices are virtually locked in for the next few years.
- ✓ I introduce you to my seven top gold stocks that give you the best potential to multiply your money in the months and years ahead.

Free Report No. 3: The Great Materials Explosion of 2013-2016

Given the huge construction boom occurring in Asia, I see a great ongoing bull market in basic materials, for as far as the eye can see.

What's more, over the long term, the value of the world's reserve currency, the U.S. dollar, is plummeting. Devaluation of the dollar, by default, will put almost constant upward pressure on the prices of almost all natural resources.

As you'll see in this free report, adding these companies to your holdings at the right time will give you a powerful one-two punch of owning both materials companies and processors.

Free Report No. 4: Beyond Gold: The World's Best Inflation/Crisis Hedges

The bull market in natural resources didn't begin yesterday. It started early in the 21st century as gold and oil prices hit bottom and then turned decisively higher.

Nor will it end tomorrow. Quite the contrary, I am convinced that the bull market in resources could last for many years as:

- ▶ Fierce battles over oil have driven its price to new record highs
- ▶ Intense competition for uranium, copper, steel, and gold grows as China and India face off

► The U.S. systematically devalues the dollar to “inflate away” its mountains of unpayable debts

Indeed, we may be witnessing a “commodity supercycle.” The kind of once-in-a-century event that can last for decades and send prices higher than you dared to imagine.

And this special report is my way of alerting you so you can convert this explosive situation into potential gains that could make the last wave of the natural resource bull market look small by comparison.

Free Report No. 5: Swing for the Fences

As the U.S. dollar is systematically devalued, tangible assets will thrive.

This report serves as a primer on how to aim for HUGE profits in the natural resource sector while consistently reducing your risk.

It is your guide to leveraging these specialty markets to go for even more profits of which I expect there will be many in the months and years ahead.

Together, your five free reports will show you step-by-step how to reap huge profits from the new, multi-year rally in commodities that is about to begin.
