

Wichita Woman Found a Ring in Her Bathtub Drain... and discovered it was worth $10,000 or

You'll never believe what this Wichita woman found in her bath drain

Wichita, KS.

After a long week from work, a Wichita woman was unwinding with a bath when she found an unexpected surprise.

She was using a bath bomb to help her to relax.

It was a Bubbly Belle bath bomb, the kind that fizz, turn the water a fun color, and leave your skin feeling smooth. Once it was in the water she closed her eyes, listened to some music and tuned out what was going on around her.

She didn't notice the prize that was hidden in the core of the bath bomb until she stepped out of the tub and wrapped herself in a towel.

Something was glittering under the water.

It was a ring!

“Why on earth was there a ring in my bath bomb?”

She picked up the ring. Was this for real?

She had recently ordered the bath bomb online for $1. She liked the way the Destress one smelled and made her skin feel, so she ordered the Bliss, Sleep and Rejuvenate.

She didn't know that they were giving out prize.

But now that she was looking at their website it was clear as day.

The website said:

Not only can you enjoy your Bubbly Belle Bath Bomb, but you can also be the lucky winner of a gorgeous ring valued as high as $10,000.

She called the company and it turned out that the ring was worth $10,000.

Better odds than the lottery

Have you ever bought a lottery ticket?

With the lottery, you hand over your money for the chance of winning big. But what are those chances?

Let's say you're playing a game where you choose four numbers. Since each number has a separate chance of being a match, you will have a .01% chance of winning.

People win millions playing games like PowerBall, where you have to choose 6 numbers from 0 to 48. But your chances of winning are one in 12,271,512.

The makers of Bubbly Belle didn't stack the odds in their favor like the people who run the lottery. In fact, they've already given out thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, and all the winners had to do was buy a bath bomb for $1. (They're usually $19.95).

"We had more winners than we expected," said a Bubbly Belle spokesperson. "And now we're working overtime to keep up with the demand."

What are Bubbly Belle Bath Bombs?

Bubbly Belle bath bombs are hand-made fizzy bath salts hand made in the U.S. (Miami, FL, to be precise). They are perfect for a rejuvenating bath alone... or with someone special.

Each one-of-a-kind bath bomb is made with simple, all natural ingredients that are safe and leave your skin feeling soft and healthy. They are infused with essential oils that relax your mind and body.

A safe alternative to other popular bath salts

Before you buy a bath salt, check the label.

Many popular bath bombs on the market are made from synthetic ingredients, harsh chemicals, and fragrances that can dry out your skin and irritate your sensitive lady parts.

As if that wasn't bad enough, many fragrances have been linked to serious conditions like breast cancer, infertility, respiratory problems and type 2 diabetes.

If you happen to be pregnant, the sketchy ingredients found in many store-bought bath bombs can harm the baby. If you've been shaving your legs in the bath, the dyes in a lot of bath bombs on the market can be absorbed into your skin, and your bloodstream.

Some ingredients, like glitter, can trigger a urinary tract infection or yeast infection.

Makes it hard to relax, doesn't it?

Finally, a guilty pleasure you can feel good about

Bubbly Belle never uses harsh chemicals, dyes or perfumes.

Instead, they use the same recipe that they use when they first started making bath bombs as hand-made gifts. The fragrances, from essential oils, keep your skin smelling wonderful for hours.

These are the same essential oils that can be placed in a diffuser to freshen up a room, and calm your mind. The smell is pleasant, but not overpowering. The scents linger in the room and on your skin for hours.

"I always thought bath bombs were just good for the fizz and the smell," said Marley Jean. "But after I got out of the tub, my skin felt amazing and so refreshed."

How to get started with essential oils

For centuries people have used essential oils to take care of their skin.

Many people use them to fight colds, clean their house, focus their minds, and even set the mood.

There are so many ways to use essential oils. The only problem is where to start? Which oils should you buy first? And how do you mix them and infuse them? What are the best ways to use them?

It can take years to understand how to use them properly. Well worth the effort. But...

But you can get many of the benefits of essential oils, like relaxing, getting a good night sleep, focusing your mind, and finding relief from stress, just by taking a bath.
